April Proclaimed As Cancer Control Month By Gov.

Governor Price Daniel opened the 1961 Crusade for Cancer officially Monday when he issued a proclamation designating April as "Cancer Control Month" in Texas.

The Governor pointed out the tragic toll of the disease. He stated that about 21,000 new cases of cancer will be diagnosed in Texas alone during 1961. The proclamation also underlined the fact that of the 12,000 Texans who will die of the disease, 4,000 could have been saved by earlier diagnosis and competent treatment.

The proclamation designated April 25 as Cancer Control Day in the state, this being the day most House-To-House Crusades will be conducted.

Half Could Be Saved

Half the men, women and children in the United States who get cancer could be saved through early diagnosis and treatment, according to the American Cancer Society.

Check UP For Cancer

How often should you have a health checkup for cancer? Once a year, theAmerican Cancer Society says, unless you have any of Cancer's Danger Signals. In that case, see your physician promptly.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS!

(Editor's Note: Following is an article written by Visiting County Agen Channarajars, of India, who arrived in Comanche last week, to begin a ten months training period with County Agent Angus Dickson, Jr.)

As scheduled I drove with Mr. Angus Dickson, County Agent to Comanche, to be as a Visiting County Agent for a period of ten months. I was very happy to meet the people of Comanche welcoming me. Some of the many people I met are the officials of the courthouse offices, Department of Agriculture, children of schools. I had an opportunity to be amongst the members of the Swine Breeders Assocation at a meeting held on March 30, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wall of De Leon.

I have been appreciating the hospitality of the people around. Mr. Dickson has planned for us to attend a short course at A&M College for two days in this week.

My main object of visiting this country and staying in this county is, to have an exchange of views and ideas in the field of Agricultural Extension, 2) to study the Extension methods which have brought tangible results in this county which can be made use of on my return back to my home country, 3) finally to create a better understanding between the two countries. I hope I will learn more by working with the farmers and farm families in this county.

He will be accompanied by Alf Toombs, of Washington, D. C., a classmate at the University, and a fellow worker for many years at the National Capital.

Mr. Hatchett, a 1906 graduate of Comanche High School, has been living in Comanche since his retirement from the Treasury Department several years ago. CLEAN-UP WEEK SET

City Clean-Up Week has been set for April 10-15—and cooperatin of all citizens of Comanche is asked to make our city a cleaner, healthier, and more attractive place in which to reside.

There will be free garbage and trash pickup, by city trucks, all day Monday and Tuesday, April 10-11.

City Street Superintendent John Jolink asks that the trash be boxed or sacked, and placed along the curb. He also explains too, that City trucks will carry off shrubbery and tree branches —if these are stacked near the curb.

Jolink also adds that City workmen will be trimming some trees, along the curbs — which make a traffic hazard.

Jolink said "The City Dump has been completely cleaned up. We have good access roads to the pits where all garbage and trash should be placed. After it has been placed in the pits, the City covers the refuse three times a week. In this manner, we can control flies and rodents this year. Please cooperate and help us in this health problem by dumping in pits.

JOHN JOLINK

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Silvus of Austin visited with Mrs. O. O. Brightman and other relatives here over the Easter holidays.

When a person reaches that age where he looks only to the past and ceases to look for better things ahead, he has, as a rule, about reached the end of his usefulness to his community, county, state, and nation.

But a person who never looks back and ceases to treasure things of the past, is in almost as bad a shape.

We worship a "Living Christ", yet we have to look back to the Holy Bible, written thousands of years ago, for most of our Christian guidance.

If all memories of the past were blotted out, we would be back in the dark ages and would have to get a new start in life.

Patriotism is a powerful force which achieves noble ends only when guided by knowledge.

The Texan's love for his State is as deep as his knowledge of its past.

History is to the State what memory is to the individual.

Texas is the most unique of all the 50 States. It lost some of its prestige when Alaska was admitted into the Union and became the biggest State. But there are plenty of things left of which to brag.

Texas is the only State that ever was an independent nation.

Texas, along with Virginia, is the only State of the Southern Confederacy that has had a native to become president of the United States. Virginia was the post-war birthplace of Woodrow Wilson and Eisenhower is a native of Texas.

Texas within, the memory of most adults has furnished two vice presidents of the United States—John Nance Garner and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Sam Rayborn of Bonham has been Speaker of the National House of Representatives longer than any other man in history, not excepting even the famous Henry Clay, who said he "had rather be right than to be president"; although he sought the latter honor on four different occasions.

For many years after the Civil War, the South was forgotten when the time for the Presidential election came around. It was taken for granted that "The Solid South" would go Democratic no matter who was nominated.

The last two or three elections, however, has been different; and candidates of both major parties have come to Texas to make campaign speeches. Twice in the last few decades candidates for vice president were from Texas.

The true greatness of a man or woman can be judged pretty much by his tolerance. If he has his own ideas about religion and politics, and at the same time grants that same privilege to others without depreciating them, then he has the fundamental elements of greatness.

There are however, some points on which we cannot compromise. We cannot leave God out of our lives and substitute atheism or communism.

When a person gets near the end of his life, he can look back and wonder whether he "won or lost." The best way perhaps, for us to take care of this is to make each day of our lives count. There is a little verse which we might use for guidance, which runs something like unto this:

"Did you waste a day or lose it?
Was it well or poorly spent?
Did you leave a ray of sunshine?
Or a scar of discontent?

As you close your eyes
in slumber,
Do you think God would say,
You have earned one more tomorrow
By the work you have done
today?"

—o—

We are going to devote the remainder of the space allowed to this department to a prepared discussion by The American Cancer Society of the urgent need of all of us to support their drive for funds during April. The article was submitted to us by our daughter-in-law, Judy Wilkerson, who is country chairman of the drive.

Urgent Business

Voluntary health agencies are an integral part of our democracy and as such they are a tower of strength to our way of life. They have made the nation stronger through better health and through a better understanding of other people's problems.

The American Cancer Society, which this month is conducting its annual education and fund raising Crusade, is such an organization. It is made up of all kinds of people—people with a great desire to serve their fellow man and rid civilization of the profound tragedy cancer is.

The American Cancer Society is many things. It is doctors in their offices trying to detect cancer early, when it is most curable. It is scientists in their laboratories seeking new cures and possible means of prevention. It is dedicated volunteers manning detection centers, providing comfort and service to cancer patients.

It is also more than just people. It is great corporations, businesses and institutions cooperat- today and in the search for the ing in the effort to save lives today and in the search for the eventual conquest of cancer.

The American Cancer Society is an organization driven by a sense of urgency. There are more than 1,000,000 Americans alive today who have been cured of cancer. This would have been thought impossible a few decades ago. But 45,000,000 Americans now alive will die of cancer if greater advances are not made. The American Cancer Society wants to see these lives saved, cancer conquered and then go out of business.

Indeed, the .Society belongs to the people—to anyone who wants to join the struggle to destroy the disease that brings so much hardship and tragedy to so many families.

Make it your organization. Do it by having a health checkup to guard your own health. Do it by offering your services as a volunteer. Do it by making a contribution to the annual Crusade which will mean more research, more life-saving education and more service to stricken patients.

Today, we are told, there are many sound, imaginative plans to move more rapidly ahead in the battle against cancer. The immediate problem, according to the American Cancer Society is that funds from the annual Cancer Society is that funds from the annual Cancer Crusade "are not sufficient to take these plans off the drawing board and put them into action."

Nationally, the public has increased support of the Society's programs to a three-year average of about $30,000,000 annually. This has been generous, but it is not enough. The Society says that "even this average of giving does not provide sufficient funds to cover all research projects already approved and considered 'musts' by the Society's various scientific committees and the Board of Directors."

A "must" in the Society's rating system of applications considered for grants simply means that a group of scientists eminent in a specific area of cancer research after study of the proposal agree that it must be done if we are to move more rapidly ahead. We agree with the scientists that "musts" must be "musts" and we know that during the April Crusade the public will respond to the challenge.

Most of us have heard the question asked: "Does all this money spent on cancer research bring us any nearer solution of the problem?" It does. Progress is being made, but because of the nature of the disease, progress is slow and difficult. We can now report that there are, as the Society says, "more than 1,000,000 living Americans who have been cured of cancer." That is progress.

Progress has been made against uterine cancer, the second most deadly cancer in women. Development of a simple "smear" test, in which the Society has invested many thousands of dollars, has made it possible under ideal conditions to virtually eliminate this cancer as a cause of death. New knowledge of cancer and new possibilities have been opened through research that can not be effectively evaluated today. Onlf time can give us the answer to what bearing they will have to the "breakthrough" when it comes.

A "must" for all of us is: support the American Cancer Society. The Society is currently supporting 651 research grants at a cost of $17,661,470. Much more money must be raised to make it possible to support many more grants.

A recent announcement by the American Cancer Society estimating the number of persons who will succumb to cancer in 1961 (265,000) set us to thinking about how this might apply, individually, to you or me.

Statisticians tell us that out of every six deaths this year, one will be due to cancer. Yet that wouldn't necessarily apply to you or me, because only about one out of every 100 Americans will die in 1961. But there is another Cancer Society statistic which says, "One out of four persons some day will hape cancer."

An optimist can say the odds are on his side: literally, three to one that he won't get cancer. A pessimist might turn the odds around and say that it's "One to three" that he will get it.

But what about a realist? He might say that neither is the case. If cancer is to develop in one out of four of us, is there more than just chance involved? Or are there biological facts which have something to do with it? To answer these questions, we must know something about cancer. We must know that it develops because something goes wrong with the mechanism of the cell and that wild, uncontrolled growth results and never ceases unless the cells are destroyed or death intervenes.

What makes a cell become cancerous? The scientist only knows that dozens of compounds will cause cancer if introduced into the cell, that continued exposure to radioactive rays will cancer, that cigarettes

PLANS JUNE WEDDDING—Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Cagle announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jeanne Kate, to Joe Madison Cauley, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Cauley, 3308 22nd St., Lubbock. The prospective bridegroom and his fiancee are students at Texas Technological College, Lubbock. Plans are being made for a June 4 wedding at the First Methodist Church.

Joe Jones Honored On 90th Birthday

Joe A. Jones, Comanche, who believes he enjoys the distinction of being the oldest Sunday School class president in this section, was honored Sunday, March 26 by his First Methodist Church class and friends on the occasion of the week of his 90th birthday. Mr. Jones was 90 Friday, March 31.

More than 150 people attended a dinner given in the church dining room following the morning service March 26. It was an old fashioned feed, with the women bringing in foods of all kinds, for which Comanche County is famous. More than the 12 proverbial baskets were gathered up after all had finished eating.

Among Mr. Jones' out of town relatives and friends present for the occasion were: A. C. Jones and family of Lubbock, Lyman Jones and family of New Mexico, Aubrey Jones and family of Amherst, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Edmondson of Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Parker of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Tupin of Dallas, Parker Tupin of Arlington, Mrs. Eddy Howell of Brownwood, Herbert Lee Williams of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Bear of Proctor, H. A. Dial of Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Helm and daughter of Arlington.

Mr. Jones' wife, Aunt Sophia, whom he married in 1934, also celebrated her birthday last week, but the good looking woman, who always sees to it that Uncle Joe looks his best, is not telling just how old she is. Aunt Sophia is Uncle Joe's and the class' greatest booster

Mr. Jones has beene president of the First Methodist Church's Wesley Bible Class since 1947 and spends most of his time during the week when he is not working in his yard and garden, in urging people to attend the Sunday School of their joice. He, himself, never misses, unless he is sick.

His class has a membership of 34 men and women, all of whom are over 63 and under 90. Visitors often swell the attendance. The total attendance in the class on Sunday, March 26 was 50. J. E. Lightfoot has been the teacher for 12 years.

The Wesley Bible Class was organized as a young peoples' class more than 50 years ago and was chartered in 1927 with most of the members then being middle age. A few of the members, including Mrs. Mae Woodward and Mrs. Hattie Clarke, have been members of the class for more than 40 years.

Mr. Jones served for 17 years as Sunday School superintendent of the Indian Creek Methodist Church near Comanche, and was a steward in the church for more than 42 years.

Mr. Jones was born March 31, 1871, in Navada, Arkansas, and when 16 years of age came with his widowed mother and two brothers and sisters to Comanche County, first settling on the Dan Pinkard place in the Indian Creek community where he grew up and was married on October 16, 1892 to Emily Coker who passed away in 1932. With the exception of 17 years spent in Lamb County near Littlefield and Amherst where he moved in 1929, Mr. Jones has spent all his adult life in Comanche County, returning here in 1945 to settle just outside the city limits of Co... before moving into town a... Basketball Players Receive Jackets

New basketbll jackets are now seen around the halls of CHS. Both the boys' and girls' basketball teams have received their '61 jackets. The girls' jackets are gray with leather sleeves and the boys' are black with leather sleeves.

The members of the girl's team who lettered were Retta Welch, Mavis Timmons, Barbara Jennings Suann Henson, Sylvia Timmons, Pat Johnston, Mary Ann Cloud, Jeannie Elrod, Dairlene Humphrey Cassie Wilhelm, Sue Collins, Dorothea Byrd, and manager Wanda Burns.

Receiving jackets on the boy's basketball team were Tom Brightman, Jerry Norris, Billy Charles Wheat, and Rusty Durham. Also lettering, but not receiving jackets because they had already received jackets in football, were Harold Perkins, Roy Hufstutler, Jimmy Walker, Roland Collins, Johnny Lightfoot, and Jim Jarratt.

Good Values In Textile Stocks

Frequently the best time to buy certain groups is when they are most unpopular. The writer feels that perhaps we have reached the point where the unpopular textile stocks are worth a review. Many of these are selling considerably below their highs of the past couple of years. In many cases yields offered are 5% or greater and the stocks are selling around 10 times 1960 earnings, quite a bargain in this high flying stock market.

Admittedly the textile business has been deteriorating for the past year and there is some question whether 1961 results will measure up to those of 1960 but there are indications that the textile industry will turn the corner in 1961. It may be safe to assume that the worst for the industry has been discounted in the price of these stocks.

Probably the investor will be on much safer ground if he purchases textile stocks with the objective of income rather than capital gains. For what he may sacrifice in capital gains potential could be offset by the degree of security in holding a sound value in the event of a sharp general decline in the stock market. Furthermore it has been our experience that stocks eventually find their true market value and if the general stock trend remains at its present level or turns up again holders of textile stocks might be in for a pleasant surprise.

The stocks we recommend are: Burlington Industries, J. P. Stevens, Lowenstein, Dan River Mills, Cone Mills and United Merchants & Manufacturers.

Texas Under Six Flags

Flags of six nations have fluttered in the Texas breeze since the first white man crossed its border.

Texans-come-lately and temporary residents, read on—

Spain placed the first claim on Texas soil, according to most historians, in the days when its Armada ruled the seas. But it was a claim seldom lacking dispute from the French.

With Napoleon's sale of the Louisiana Territory, French claims in Texas also ended. Napoleon was busy with his ambitions in Europe. Finally he attacked Spain, drawing most of that country's attention and troops home.

In 1810 the Mexican battle for independence was started. It was to last for years. Its culmination saw the infant government claiming Texas.

But there were some Mexican citizens in the north who preferred to be a part of the United States. Two such citizens were Jim Bowie and Stephen Austin.

Eventually, this situation evolved into the formation of the Republic of Texas and adoption of the fourth flag. Texas won its independence in 1836.

Nine years later, it became a state.

In 1861, it withdrew from the Union and fought under the Confederate "stars and bars" for four years.

The return to the Union in 1865 meant return to the flag of 1845-1861 and Texas has been represented by a star in that banner ever since.

Thanks ....

To the nice people of Comanche County, we wish report that our drive for the HEART FUND was uccess and I personally want to thank every one gave so generously. We are very close to our and Dollar ($1,000) mark. Remember that 40% to the state, 10% to the district, and the remainder in the banks of this county. Only through re- ch will we ever find the causes and cures for t disease.

Remember, you can give the year around to the ART FUND by giving a memorial to someone that wish to have a lasting memorial.

Again, may we say thank you for giving, so that one that you love, might live.

Ben Barnes Leads Fight To Preserve FM Road Funds

AUSTIN (Spl.)—State Representative Ben Barnes of De Leon promised strong opposition to House Bill 703 which would take Farm - to - Market Road funds from priority position.

The bill, introduced by Bob Johnson of Dollas, would take the $15 million annual funds for new farm roads from their previous position of top priority.

Barnes and other rural leaders take a dim view of this plan which is supposed to help alleviate the state deficit.

"It is our belief," Barnes said, "that the Farm-to-Market program in Texas has been a great aid to rural people. It has been invaluable to them for transporting their products and allowing their children to attend school during bad weather."

Though the sponsors of the bill claim that money can be taken from highway department funds, rural representatives feel the risk of hurting the farm road program is too great.

"We never have understood," Barnes concluded, "how the representatives from large cities have become such experts on the problems of rural Texas."

COMANCHE, TEXAS

37 Years Ago

FROM THE COMANCHE CHIEF
MAY 16, 1924

Comanche caught the eye of the assembled thousands and was the subject of voluminous compliments when she appeared in the mamoth parade of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Brownwood Wednesday.

In fact, if compliments by neighbors and strangers alike amount to anything, Comanche's entry was the big shot of the whole five mile parade.

Hamilton Wright, Fort Worth Record reporter said of the big parade that Comanche stole the show, but let him tell the stry of Comanche's great achievement.

"More than 40 brass bands and numerous jazz and other bands were on hand and produced such an assortment of music that even the strains of a fire siren could not overcome. Governor Neff and Alvin Ousley, former National Commander of the American Legion and other dignitaries singled out Comanche as the sensation of the parade.

"Old time Indian memories were returned when the Comanche delegation in Indian attire, war paint, and with blood-curdling warwhoops took the thousands by storm."

"One of the most striking delegations in the big parade," said The Dallas Morning News, "was that of Comanche, Brownwood's neighbor, 30 miles to the north. The old Comanche town closed up stock, local and barrel and went to Brownwood to strut their stuff.

"The Comancheans were dressed as Indians in their war paints —not rogue, but real Indian war paint and their frighteening war whoops notified the thousands of spectators that the savages from Brownwood had invaded Brownwood and the Indian Band, the best in town, played characteristic Indian music during the parade."

Mae iddison Benson, a staff correspondent for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram in her version of the parade had this to say:

"Fifty towns with 40 sband paraded for one hour and forty-five minutes in an uninterrupted march until 10,000 people had passed in review. The applause was almost deafening at every section of the town when the Comanche Indians came into view. The big Tribe, some walking and others on horses, reminded the crowd that Comanche had taken the town and the convention by storm.

"The Comanche American Legion Band was one of the features of the delegation which was so large that it took 12 minutes for Comanche to march by any particular place. The Comanche women, than whom there are none more beautiful, played a large part in the parade.

"At the luncheon of the officers of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, one of the field managers of the organization freely expressed his opinion to J. D. Waring of Comanche that Comanche had topped everything else in the parade.

"The paint ponies with their riders were features of the Comanche aggregation, and a feature of the whole big show. That they would be so evident to all of the Comanche people who saw the parade a few days before on the Comanche Square when a pep parade was put on by the American Legion Band.

The Indians heading the Comanche parade at Brownwood on their paint horses were W. D. Carroll, W. D. Lane, George Montgomery and George Victor Montgomery. Governor Neff told George Montgomery that this was one of the very best features of the parade. The Comanche band acquitted itself with credit on this occasion and all the Comanche people in the procession entered into the spirit of the thing in a way to give Comanche a reputation at home and abroad and to put their town on the map. Indian music by the band and Indian dances by the groups of Comancheans, accompanied by war whoops, took the crowd by storm. Near the head of the Comanche delegation J. P. Hoff with an Indian manikin in his hands gave demonstrations along the way as the procession proceeded that made Comanche's part more colorful—and if so so many "red men" participating wouldn't make a colorful event, what would? It was an Indian raid on the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and one long to be remembered.

Comanche was at Brownwood in full force Wednesday, the whole town being closed up tight for the entire day. Two hundred and one tickets were sold here for the special train Wednesday morning and the road to Brownwood was lined with cars at the same time.

Dudney Cites Chamber Of Commerce Accomplishments

Bill Dudney, retiring president of the Comanche Chamber of Commerce, at its annual banquet recently, in his welcome address spoke as follows:

"There are many reasons why I believe in the Chamber of Commerce.

"I believe that the Chamber of Commerce links the people of the entire Comanche community together in a common enterprise, and makes possible great public and business forward movements.

"It is the gauge of a city's enterprise, prosperity and ambitions, and reflects the combined wishes of the community.

"Also, I believe further that: I am afforded an opportunity to actually work for conditions I have hoped for, through Chamber of Commerce membership.

"I profit on dollars and cents, both directly and indirectly, from the work of the organization and in personal satisfaction in working toward a goal that is not entirely in the range of self-interest.

"Membership in the Chamber of Commerce shows my sympathy with an organized effort to better my city and improve the conditions of life within it.

"My business judgment tells me that whatever is best for this city and my neighbors is too valuable an asset for me to pass up.

"Chamber membership does not cost—it pays.

"Actually, there is scarcely any limit on what we can accomplish, if each of us as individuals will continue to assume a share of civic responsibilities and take part in all our programs.

"Much has been accomplished but much remains to be accomplished. As always, how well we do, will depend directly upon our individual contributions of time, effort, leadership and money.

"I am grateful to the directors, the committees, the membership, and the staff of the Chamber of Commerce for this effective work.

"The building of a city is never finished. It is a job that goes on and on, without end, and we shall ever be building a greater Comanche."

Did you know Gasoline is Taxed at a Rate 5 Times as High as Diamonds?

IN TEXAS, YOU PAY 90¢ TAX ON 10 GALLONS OF GASOLINE

Gasoline taxes will be lowered—if the latest temporary Federal gasoline tax increase expires on June 30th as scheduled by the 1959 Federal Highway Act.

Along with all good citizens, we are in favor of building the roads that the motoring public needs. But, in the last 10 years alone, Federal and State taxes nationwide on gasoline have skyrocketed 51%—skyrocketed to a point where gasoline, a basic commodity, is actually taxed at a rate five times as high as luxuries like diamonds and mink coats.

Must gasoline taxes be so high? Most people believe that gasoline taxes are high because the money is needed to pay for our national highway program. This is not so.

The fact is that out of every highway-user tax dollar collected last year by the Federal government, more than 40 cents was diverted to non-highway purposes.

If these highway-user tax revenues were spent for highways—as they should be—gasoline taxes could be lowered, and the highway program given a boost.

In fact, the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1959 provides that when the added temporary Federal gasoline tax expires on June 30th, 1961, as scheduled, some $802 million a year in highway-user taxes—now diverted to the U. S. Treasury's general fund—will instead be deposited in the Highway Trust Fund.

As a result, if the latest Federal temporary gasoline tax increase expires on June 30th as scheduled—the national highway program will actually get $225 million more each year than it now receives from the latest Federal temporary gasoline tax increase.

In January of this year, after an exhaustive 2-year survey of national transportation policy, a special U. S. Senate study group confirmed the wisdom of this decision.

This will be good news for you. You will be able to enjoy a steadily improving highway system, at a lower gasoline tax-rate.

HERE ARE THE FACTS ABOUT TODAY'S HIGH GASOLINE TAXES

- In Texas, you pay 90¢ tax on 10 gallons of gasoline.
- You pay 9¢ tax a gallon—4¢ in Federal taxes plus 5¢ in State taxes.
- Gasoline is taxed at a rate 5 times as high as diamonds.
- The average Texas motor vehicle owner pays $78 a year in gasoline taxes.
- Since 1951 there have been three increases in the Federal gasoline tax alone.
- In the last 10 years, gasoline taxes nationwide have skyrocketed 51%—yet the national average price of gasoline itself has risen only 5.5% during the same period.

cause of lung cancer, and overdoses of hormones will cancer. He knows, too, that enes of our forebears may something to do with it and antibodies, or a lack of may be a vital factor in the disease or in com- it.

in the end, it's not just e, is it? There are reasons, if we don't know all of What we have to find out ore facts about these un- s so that cancer no longer can poke a grim finger at one of us—seemingly by chance.

* *

Finally, a bit of advice. Have an annual health checkup and learn the seven cancer danger signals. This will help change the statistics. And support the annual Crusade of the American Cancer Society so that science can prove that death from cancer need not be our fate.

* *

The experts are fond of devising questionnaires to test our judgment on problems and issues that confront us in everyday life.

* *

On what basis can we test our judgment in deciding which of the many public appeals to support?

* *

There are some 4,000 to 5,000 more or less organized appeals. We cannot contribute to all of them, not even to the 500 which the National Better Business Bureau has approved.

* *

How, then, can we select the cause or causes most worthy of our support—assuming, of course, we have a freedom of choice?

* *

Traditionally, Americans are warmly responsive to any effort to alleviate human suffering, to cure and prevent sickness and disease.

The question we must ask ourselves are, first, in which of all diseases is there a compelling universal urgency to find a solution? Second, of the leading causes of death and death-inducing illness, what can we do the most about today?

Certainly, one disease that fits these criteria is cancer. It strikes the young and the old, inflicts supreme physical suffering, causes incalculable economic loss and family disruption and dissolution. It is not without reason that the disease is called a scourge, mankind's cruelest enemy.

Something can be done about the problem, as the American Cancer Society has shown. More than one million living Americans have been cured of cancer, and still more could be cured if they saw their doctors in time. Some exciting new discoveries in cancer research hold promise of new cures and, hopefully, a preventive. But it takes money to bring the facts about cancer to the material on cancer diagnosis and people, to provide physicians with treatment, to support cancer research.

The money raised by the American Cancer Society in its April Crusade is invested in programs of education, research and service to cancer patients. Progress in these fields is like the growth of grass. The eye cannot measure the new growth from day to day, but by nourishing the soil, we know what the end result will be.

Let us help to hasten this growth. Support the 1961 Crusade of the American Cancer Society.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

Dr. Kershner

THOSE who place so much hope in the plans for using American food for peace, should ponder the situation in Pakistan as offering significant data on that subject.

During the past ten years, the population of Pakistan has increased by 20%, but there has been no increase in the production of food. During that same ten year period, about $400 million worth of wheat, rice, and other surplus U.S. government food stuffs have been sent to Pakistan. Most of us are inclined to follow the line of least resistance. If food comes to us free, we are not likely to exert ourselves so much to produce it. To what extent does free food from the United States retard food production in the countries we seek to help?

It is a grave question as to whether or not we are doing more harm than good to the people of the countries we are trying to help when we send to them large quantities of free food. There is no doubt that such action is needed in times of emergency, but great care is needed to keep emergencies from becoming permanent. The citizens of Pakistan themselves agree, at least some of them do, that food production in their country would have increased if our aid had not been so readily available. When the time comes, as it will, when we cannot continue, will not Pakistan and other countries be in worse positions than if we had not thrust our generosity upon them? Helping others on an individual or a country-to-country basis is a difficult task requiring great skill. The one helped is often injured more than benefited. FNS

YESTERDAY'S MEDICINE, TODAY'S COW FEED

A short time ago, people thought blackstrap molasses was effective treatment for anemia and rheumatism. Today we know better. We wouldn't think of relying on "home remedies" when we have so many fast-acting, reliable modern medications available to us. But remember—most medicines should be taken only upon the advice of your physician. The next time you're not feeling up to par, see your doctor first. Then, if he orders medication, come to us for quality prescription service.
